A cul-de-sac street within a Cul-de-sac estate, it doesn't get much more private than this.

Arguably one of the best locations on the peninsula, the "Garden of Adin" (yes it's Adin in this case, not Eden. Ask me why when you call) has long been the preferred buying position for many.

Found between the main shopping centre and the waterfront, within a flat easy walk to all facilities including local ferry services, shops, rail and several restaurants.

Boasting a land size of over 700 square metres, this
